

Abstract of the Disclosure

The present invention provides a digital filter circuit capable of processing multi-channel data having different sampling frequencies. RAMs are provided which latch data inputted thereto respectively, and the data outputted from the RAMs are alternately processed.